

ROOSEVELT ACCEPTS 3RD TERM NOMINATION; SECRETARY WALLACE CHOSEN RUNNING MATE

Hitler Warns England Not To Fight On

Fuehrer, Speaking Before Reichstag, Addresses "One More Appeal To Reason In England"; Hints Of "Great Assault"

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, July 19.—(By Trans-Atlantic Telephone)—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler speaking before the reichstag tonight addressed "one more appeal to reason in England," warning that "a world empire would be destroyed" if England insists on continuing the fight.

Hitler emphasized he was not asking peace in the voice of a victor demanding capitulation of the vanquished but rather as a victor proposing a reasonable peace.

He said that "British statesmen apparently have no conception" of the destruction which would be visited on England if Churchill continues to demand a fight to the finish.

"But one thing is sure," he exclaimed, "no Churchill will be left" in that case to attempt the rehabilitation of Britain. The "people left behind in London" after the great assault, he explained, would have ideas entirely different from those of Churchill and his colleagues.

WILLKIE HEARS F. D. R. ADDRESS

"Very, Very Interesting"
He Remarks After
Radio Broadcast

(By Associated Press)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 19.—Wendell L. Willkie arranged to leave here today for a farm conference at Denver after commenting that President Roosevelt's speech last night was "very, very interesting."

Willkie sat on a couch in his apartment at a Colorado Springs hotel during the President's talk. He chuckled occasionally.

Lighting cigarettes during pauses in the President's talk, Willkie smiled broadly and put his feet on a coffee table when Mr. Roosevelt said that he would not accept the nomination of the demand only of the Democratic party.

The Republican nominee refused to elaborate his brief statement about Mr. Roosevelt's remarks. He also declined comment on the nomination of Secretary Wallace as vice president.

Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, was a dinner guest of Willkie last night.

McCormick was asked, "Does your visit mean that your paper will support Willkie?"

"Of course it does," the publisher replied.

CENTRAL OHIO CITIES CLIMB

Majority Of Communities
Show Gains In Population

COLUMBUS, July 19.—Preliminary counting of city residents in 24 central and southeastern Ohio counties, completed today, showed that only two of 16 cities of more than 7,500 had declined in population since 1930.

Ohio river floods and removal of several industries accounted for a decline of 781 in Ironton's population to 15,840. Charles Q. Blomquist, area supervisor said.

Cambridge's drop from 16,129 to 14,980 mystified the census office, which challenged the 1930 figure after a check of utilities records showed no appreciable decline in customers during the decade. Blomquist said only 45 vacant houses were listed for the city.

This census area, largest geographically of Ohio's six, embraces five congressional districts and includes the following counties: Athens, Gallia, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Vinton, Fairfield, Hocking, Perry, Pickaway, Ross, Franklin, Guernsey, Monroe, Morgan, Muskingum, Noble, Washington, Ashland, Coshocton, Delaware, Knox, Licking and Richland.

The 16 cities in the area with preliminary population counts of more than 7,500 and their gain or loss since 1930 follow:

Columbus, 304,972, up 14,408; Zanesville 37,409, up 969; Mansfield, 37,024, up 3,499; Newark, 31,417, up 821; Lancaster, 21,886, up 3,170; Chillicothe, 20,078, up 1,728; Ironton, 15,840, down 781; Cambridge, 14,980, down 1,149; Marietta, 14,514, up 229; Ashland, 12,639, up 1,498; Coshocton, 11,482, up 574; Mt. Vernon, 10,062, up 692; Delaware, 8,903, up 228; Circleville, 7,937, up 568; Gallipolis, 7,827, up 721; and Athens, 7,676, up 424.

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, July 19.—The Italian Light Cruiser Bartolomeo Colleoni was sunk in the Mediterranean off the Greek island of Crete in battle this morning with the Australian Cruiser Sydney and a small destroyer force, the British admiralty reported.

A British destroyer rescued 250 men from the Italian boat, one of the fastest warships in the world, with a normal complement of 500. The Bartolomeo Colleoni was the first Italian cruiser reported lost in the European war, although Italy has acknowledged lesser naval losses.

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, July 19.—British and German air fighters engaged in a fierce catch-as-catch-can battle over the Straits of Dover today when a cloud of raiders swarmed down on a destroyer guarding the southeast English coast.

The warship, which was reported undamaged, fought off the attack with intense anti-aircraft fire and brought down one of the planes.

British fighters chased the bombers back to the French coast where they engaged in a sky battle between Boulogne and Calais in which observers said they saw at least four planes falling in flames into the sea.

The attack was the most spectacular of a series of bombing raids this morning on northeast and northwest England, southwest Scotland and on a trawler only 17 miles off the southeast coast of Ireland as the Germans renewed their steady battering tactics against this island fortress.

Reese On Probation In Accident Case

LISBON, July 19.—Raymond Reese of East Liverpool, recently convicted of second degree manslaughter in the "hit-skip" death of Arthur Green of Glenmoor last August, was placed on five years probation when he appeared today before Judge W. F. Lones for sentencing.

The judge deferred sentence of Reese, taking cognizance of the fact that he never before had been involved in trouble. Reese faces a possible sentence of one to five years in the penitentiary if he violates the terms of his probation, the jurist pointed out.

OHIO DELEGATE IN SPOTLIGHT AT CONVENTION

Francis W. Durbin, Lima Candidate, Cause Of Brief Excitement

DAVEY, AT DINNER,
ATTACKS BRICKER

Gubernatorial Nominee
Lashes Ohio Governor
For Expenditures

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 19.—A grinning, costless Ohio delegate caused a brief flurry of excitement in the Democratic national convention's waning hours, which also brought a blast from gubernatorial nominee Martin L. Davey against expenditures of Republican Gov. John W. Bricker.

Francis W. Durbin of Lima, Democratic nominee for congressional-at-large, shared the convention spotlight last night as he shouted through the floor microphone that he wanted to make a nomination for the vice presidency from the platform.

"The chair had not noticed the delegate wanted to do so, but now invites him to do so," said Sen. Alben W. Barkley, chairman.

Plowing Through Crowd
Perspiring after struggling through the crowd of delegates and police, Durbin removed his coat, hunched it to Senator "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky, took a long drink of water and started to speak.

"It would be remiss of the great Democratic convention if we did not at this time give a great hand to the great mayor of Chicago the Hon. Edward J. Kelly," he said.

"I want to say Chicago is a great town, and the only thing wrong with it is the Chicago Tribune and the Hearst papers."

Then, tugging at his green-striped shirt, Durbin nominated "the Hon. Bascom Timmons, a fearless and fine newspaper man who would make a great vice president."

In the press section, Timmons, Washington correspondent for several southwestern newspapers and a close friend of Vice President Garner, stood up, took a bow and acknowledged Durbin's handwaving.

"I was an original Roosevelt man in 1932 and 1936 and I voted for Roosevelt last Wednesday night," Durbin continued, "and I want to say to that great president that I love—if he's listening in—for God's sake Mr. President nominate a real Democrat like Bascom Timmons or Jim Farley."

Sawyer For F. D. R.
As he finished, National Committeeman Charles Sawyer rose and said he thought it proper for him to thank Durbin, but that "as far as I can, I control the delegation from Ohio. I am going down the line for Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Davey's criticism of Bricker's expenditures was made at a harmony banquet in honor of the former governor seeking a third term.

Sums spent by Bricker for new furniture in the governor's mansion will become one of his favorite issues in the gubernatorial campaign, Davey asserted.

"They bought a lot of commodore at $40 each," he said.

"I don't know what a commodore is, but it's what I think. $40 is a hell of a lot of money for one."

Davey also said that if he wins the November election, he would recognize each of the six candidates who opposed him for the nomination.

The Ohio delegation gave its 52 votes to Henry A. Wallace for the vice presidential nomination.

F.D.R. Heard In Late Talk From Capital

Answers "Call To Service"; President's First
Choice For Vice President Is Named
Amid Convention Boos, Cheers

By W. B. RAGSDALE, Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO, July 19.—President Roosevelt, deciding that in a time of "public danger" he could not turn his "back upon a call to service," accepted today a third term nomination from a Democratic convention which amid boos and cheers chose Secretary Henry A. Wallace for his running mate.

While fully 20,000 persons sat in a midnight hush in Chicago stadium, the President told them by radio from the White House, that "only the people themselves can draft a President."

"If such a draft be made upon me, I say in the utmost simplicity I will with God's help continue to serve with the best of my ability and with the fullness of my strength," he said.

But he explained, as had Mrs. Roosevelt an hour or so earlier, that the times were so fraught with danger that he would be able to do little campaigning.

"But I shall never be loathe," he said, "to call the attention of the nation to deliberate or unwitting falsifications of fact which are sometimes made by political candidates."

He said all the needs of human security had not been met; much more needed to be done. He added, "progress along free lines is gravely endangered by what is happening to other continents."

Then he continued in a grave tone.

"If our own government passes to other hands next January—untried hands, inexperienced hands—we can merely hope and pray that they will not substitute appeasement and compromise with those who seek to destroy all democracies everywhere."

Wallace Polls 627 Votes

Wallace got 627 and a fraction votes. Bankhead got 329 and McNutt, in spite of the effort he made to hold off support—even to the extent of turning the bulk of his Indiana delegation to Wallace—got 66 and a fraction votes. The others were scattered among 10 candidates.

The delegates had been convinced that only by choosing Wallace—the President's choice—could they induce Mr. Roosevelt to accept first place on the tradition-breaking ticket.

In the end, they gave a surface appearance of unanimity to the nomination by adopting a motion to make it unanimous.

But "Noes" rang out plainly when Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky, the convention chairman, put the motion. His decision was that it had been carried by more than two-thirds of the delegates.

The convention adjourned sine die at 1:05 a. m. (EST).

The dramatic peak of the evening

Crowd Cheers McNutt

"Stay with 'em Paul" and "go get it, Paul" urged the crowd. But he shook his head and strove again to be heard. He held his ground, and he and Barkley together fought down the noise.

"We cannot take chances now; a nation only gets one chance these days," McNutt shouted. "If it makes a mistake it is lost. We must have leaders who will keep this country safe and free."

"We have such a leader in Franklin Delano Roosevelt. I follow his wishes and I am here to support his choice for vice president."

Again the crowd yelled: "No-No."

"I therefore ask emphatically that my name be withdrawn, and I pledge my enthusiastic support to the nominee who is being selected on this historic occasion," he concluded.

Taxable Sales In County Show Gain

Business in Columbiana county was better the first six months of this year than it was during the first half of 1939, and was also ahead of the state as a whole, according to figures just released by State Treasurer Don H. Ehrlich.

Sales tax collections for the six months' period in Ohio amounted to $24,472,873.70, or a gain of 10.4 per cent, while in Columbiana county collections were $252,942.50, a gain of $27,383.58 or 12.1 per cent.

Based on these sales tax figures, Columbiana county showed an increase in taxable sales for the first six months of 1940 over 1939 of $912,786.00.

FOUR YEARS FOR IMPROVEMENT

Political conventions have been adjusted to radio, but there's a lot to be done.

Party leaders realize the tone of their campaigns now is struck audibly in convention proceedings. They'll do something.

First thing to be fixed is the old-fashioned orator who substitutes volume for value; what he says may not make sense but it's loud. The steamboat school of public speaking may die out by natural processes, though it was discouraging this year when Gov. Stassen, youngest keynote ever to appear before the Republicans, copied the mistakes of his elders.

Perhaps before holy rolling orators can be weeded out it will be necessary to breed a new type of delegates who can be appealed to by some other means than hollering, though it is rumored that delegates don't like hog calling any better than anybody else. Best speech made in either convention was by Bruce Barton of New York City, who never raised his voice once.

Honest recognition must be given the fact that the patience of radio listeners is perishable, like ice cream, and will melt away. No speech ever was good enough to last more than a half hour, and if a party platform can't obfuscate everything worth obfuscating in 500 words the job's hopeless.

Invitations should be shorter, music should be better, the program never should run past 11 p. m. and the trained seals should be taught to hold their applause till there's a time and place for it. The first major party to bring its national convention entirely up to date will win the election hands down and be voted the most popular unsponsored radio feature of the year, to boot.

SHAME!

The insult to intelligence delivered by spokesmen for both parties when discussing national defense needs to be jammed back in their teeth. The people have had enough.

Contrary to what Republicans have said, Democrats are not responsible for America's failure to be armed to the teeth when war started. Long after war did start, Republicans still were convinced the Roosevelt administration was going haywire on defense spending; they said so, and they voted so in congress. For that matter, so did a lot of Democrats.

Contrary to what Democrats have said, on the other hand, Republicans are not responsible for America's failure to arm during the post-war period. It was universally hoped during the 20's that war would be outlawed. Republicans entertained this hope. As The New York Times, which saved some old campaign literature points out, Democrats criticized Republicans for not going far enough with disarmament.

There was no need to arm till Hitler came to power in 1933. The United States was caught short by Germany's strength. So were Great Britain, France, Poland and a baker's dozen of little countries which had a lot more reason not to be caught short. Politicians in this country who can't find anything to do but blather recriminations for a mistake everybody had a hand in should button up. A dictator might get wind of what they're saying and yell, "There, what did I tell you about democracy?"

ASIATIC SQUEEZE

Great Britain admittedly has everything to gain, nothing to lose, by trying appeasement on Japan. It is in no position to defend its Asiatic interests against the striking power of the Japanese navy.

The United States cannot condemn Anglo-Japanese agreement to give the death blow to the Chinese government by closing the Burma road without taking Britain's unfavorable position into consideration. London has one desperate chance to save itself from a militant Japan and is taking that chance. If the Japanese prove no more susceptible to appeasement than the Germans and Italians proved to be, that will be Britain's tough luck.

Washington cannot give any appearance of approval to so cruel a blow at weakened China, but it is likewise evident that Washington can do nothing about the Burma road. It cannot keep the road open. Perhaps Great Britain, on the other hand, won't be able to keep it closed. In that case, Japan will proceed to harass the British outpost at Hong Kong and British commercial interests everywhere else. If Japan's new government, reputedly controlled completely by militarists, follows the lead of its European models, it won't wait long to find an excuse to prove that appeasement in Asia works no better than it worked in Europe.

THE LUNAR transits bearing rule over the affairs of this day are read as adverse, conflicting. While there are indications of pleasant pastimes, with social and sentimental attachments and functions, yet there is a menace of overdoing in this direction, with much self-indulgence and extravagance. Likewise there are aspects showing duplicity, intrigue and underhand methods manifesting in private relations as well as financial.

Those whose birthday it is may have a pleasant year of sociability, romantic attachments and a general good time although there is a regrettable sign of over-indulgence and a disposition to over spend. Finances are also beset by intrigue, connivance and other forms of sharp practice. With wisdom and prudence there are signs of a moderately happy year, but shun strife and recklessness.

A child born on this day may lean toward temper, stubbornness, and rash and pleasure-loving traits, possibly to excess. It would be wise to begin early with discipline and precept.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

It isn't by mere coincidence that Spain raises a cry for the return of Gibraltar at a moment when the fate of Europe paces the shore of the English channel, awaiting the zero hour for the Nazi blitzkrieg against Britain.

Spanish Generalissimo Franco's declaration that he expects to get this famous rock—key to the Mediterranean—'isn't just another side-effort to extract gains from the Hitlerian blow at the English. It represents in fact a vital part of the battle of Britain.

That battle isn't as simple as its name might indicate. It takes in a lot more territory than this pin-head island. Actually the conflict is divided into two interlocking phases—the direct German assault on England, and the battle of the Mediterranean, which is Mussolini's pigeon.

General Franco naturally wants to regain this world's most noted fortress which his country lost to the British in 1704. But the inspiration to go after it springs from the Berlin-Rome axis. He is speaking one word for himself, and two for Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini.

From the axis standpoint it is imperative either that Hitler make a short job of crushing England by bombing and invasion, or that Britain's hold on the Mediterranean be broken.

Continued British domination of this sea spells probable strangulation of Italy through blockade. It also means that Mussolini can't reach the open Atlantic through the long and narrow straits of Gibraltar to help his ally in the attack on England.

Gibraltar is a mighty bulwark of this domination, because of its control of the western gateway to the waters which Italy claims for its own. The rock could be besieged and captured only with the aid of Spain if at all.

General Franco is deeply indebted to Hitler and Mussolini for great aid in winning his revolt against the Madrid government. What more natural than that the Nazi-Fascist brotherhood should strike at Gibraltar through their friend?

Doctor Traces Development

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What is the meaning of delayed closure of the soft spots on the baby's head?

THE SKULL before birth is entirely membranous. Bone begins to grow within this membrane and eventually fills it in completely, but the change from membrane to bone is surrounded at the margins by membrane. The places where three bones join indicate large, roughly triangular soft spots, called fontanelles. There are really six of them, but only two are obvious in the normal infant. The one in the back of the head closes normally at the second month. The front one at about the eighteenth month.

But there is considerable variation in this event in perfect health. Even with good nutrition the front may not close until the end of the second year. The commonest cause of delayed closure is rickets, in which condition it may remain open until the end of the third year. In cretinism closure may not occur until the eighth year. There are some remarkable cases in which the frontal, or great fontanel, remains open into adult life, in one instance recorded until 51 years.

Diet for Underweight
The fat person who has to go on a diet would look with envious glances on the diet the thin man may eat to gain weight. The thin man can indulge in meals upon which the gastronomic arts of Autolycus and Lucullus have been expended. Even his unresponsive appetite could hardly help but be stimulated by this:

Breakfast
Frozen strawberries.
Oeuf aux Saucissons (Smoothed eggs with wine sauce, garnished with tiny sausages).
Roznons sautes (Sliced kidneys fried in a thickening of flour and claret).
Toast and butter—All you want.
Suisse cheese on tender crisp lettuce leaves prepared in a salad bowl with oil and vinegar.
Steaming coffee—with cream and sugar.

Dinner
One of my friends who is an amateur cook (like most amateur cooks, he himself is the only ardent admirer of his culinary feats) says that the recipes published in this column are dreadful. Well, here is one, and I guarantee that if amateur cooks will learn to make Bulestan's cucumber soup well, they will not be embarrassed by so many refusals when they issue invitations to dinners of their own cooking:
Cucumber soup—Cut a cucumber and two onions into thin slices and toss in foaming butter for two or three minutes. Put vegetables in a sauce pan and pour in five cups of boiling water which will be reduced to four. Season with salt, pepper, nutmeg and a pinch of cayenne. Simmer for half an hour and add a cupful of clear chicken soup, and five minutes before serving, a tablespoon of vermicelli. Finish by stirring in a binding of two eggs diluted with a tablespoon of cream. Serve with croutons.

Pork Chops Nonronnoise—Thin, trimmed pork chops, fried on both sides; add seasoning and a handful of bread crumbs. In Perigord they add a little chopped garlic. When browned add a cup of veal stock, cook to reduce, and before serving add a little vinegar and chopped gherkins.

Vegetables, dessert and coffee, as wished.

Theatre Attractions

Distinguished by individually fine performances by the stars and other members of the cast, "The Mortal Storm," showing tonight through Saturday at the State has much else to recommend it.

While Margaret Sullivan, James Stewart, Robert Young and Frank Morgan attain new heights of acting perfection in their roles, much credit should be given to the superb direction of Frank Borzage and to capable editing which eliminated every unnecessary detail to the moving, dramatic picture version of Phillis Bettome's novel.

The cast includes also Maria Ouspenskaya, Gene Reynolds, Bonita Granville, Irene Rich, and Robert Stack.

A portrayal by Frank Morgan that grips the heart and mind is the most outstanding work in the film, with Robert Young's portrait of the young fanatic who is willing to sacrifice the things he holds dearest for his political beliefs. Morgan is seen as the scientist and teacher, beloved by his family and wide circle of friends, who finds everything he possesses, and has faith in, swept away in a single night. Stewart and Miss Sullivan, the lovers of the delightful "Shop Around the Corner" are re-united in the new film, this time as tragic victims of the storm of hate that engulfs their lives.

At the Grand today and Saturday is "Bad Man from Red Butte" with Johnny Mack Brown, Bob Baker and Fuzzy Knight.

LOCK SAYS
What has happened to our City Ordinance prohibiting the display of Fruits and Vegetables in front of stores? Take a walk down Main Street in our fair city. One can imagine you are in the Slums of some South American country. Flies, germs, bugs and street dirt all over Vegetables and Fruits, sold for human consumption. There is a City Ordinance against this, because it is dangerous to the public health. If these merchants do not care for our city's public health, it's up to our City Officials to protect the people's health by seeing that this law is obeyed.

No germs, flies or street dirt on our Fruits and Vegetables. All our Vegetables are bought, when at all possible, from local farmers. F. D. R. ACCEPTS THIRD TERM BID

Sec. Wallace Chosen By Delegates As His Running Mate

The crowd groaned as he turned away to struggle through the tangle of men and women on the platform. Mrs. Roosevelt had risen in the tumult and took two quick steps toward him. Others clasped McNutt by the hand, and he stood with his back to the First Lady. He turned quickly when he learned she was there. She took his hand in both of her own and shook it vigorously.

Also Withdraw Names

Jose H. Jones of Texas, federal loan administrator, had withdrawn his own name, too, when it was presented. And Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas had prevailed on his state delegation not to present his name after learning Mr. Roosevelt's wish for Wallace.

This left Bankhead as the chief rallying point for any opposition to Wallace when the ballot started. Cheers welcomed any acquisition to the Bankhead standard. Frequent boos greeted Wallace votes. Men who came forward to second the Wallace nomination got boos.

Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois withdrew his own name when it was offered and seconded Wallace.

We ought to follow Roosevelt," he urged. "No-no" yelled back the crowd. Sen. Prentiss Brown of Michigan withdrew his own name and urged Wallace's nomination in the face of a somewhat similar demonstration. The nomination itself went through chiefly on the big votes from the populous states, plus many votes from the middle western and western farm states. Most of the southern votes went to Bankhead.

At the end of the roll call, Sen. John H. Bankhead, brother of the speaker, came up to withdraw him as a candidate and move that the nomination be made unanimous. Amid groans and "noes" from some southern delegates, the motion went across.

President Speaks

When the presidential acceptance speech came on, the crowd was still. There was one rustle of applause, which quickly died as Mr. Roosevelt's voice ploughed straight through it. A light played upon a big picture of the President at the end of the stadium.

"I find myself as almost everyone does sooner or later in my lifetime in a conflict between deep personal desire for retirement on the one hand and that quiet, invisible thing called conscience on the other," Mr. Roosevelt said, speaking from the White House.

When he was elected for a second term in 1936, he went on, "it was my firm intention to turn over the responsibilities of government to other hands at the end of my term."

"That conviction remained with me," he added. "Eight years in the presidency, following a period of bleak depression and covering one world crisis after another normally entitle any man to the relaxation which comes from honorable retirement."

The President said that when the war broke out last fall, it still was his intention to announce simply and clearly, at an early date, "that under no conditions would I accept reelection."

"Call To Service"

"It soon became evident, however, that such a public statement on my part would be unwise from the point of view of sheer public interest."

"As President of the United States it was my duty, with the aid of the Congress, to preserve our neutrality, to shape our program of defense to meet rapid changes, to keep our domestic affairs adjusted to shifting world conditions, and to sustain the policy of the good neighbor."

"Today all private plans, all private lives have been repeated by an over-riding public danger," he said, and added:

"These are the reasons why I have to admit to myself and now to state to you that my conscience will not let me turn my back on a call to service."

LIST FINDINGS

IN E. LIVERPOOL

$11,483 Shortage Against Former City Employee Is Included In State Examiner's Report

EAST LIVERPOOL, July 19.—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today certified to City Solicitor Carroll P. Lynch an examiner's report listing findings of $15,302.12 against municipal officials here, including a shortage of $11,483.33 in funds handled by a former woman employee in the auditor's office.

Findings for the $11,483.33 shortage were made against Miss Anna McNicol, former clerk in the auditor's office and Clyde V. Hall, city treasurer.

Other findings included $3,000 against James R. Hall, former service-safety director, and the Gallion Iron Works & Manufacturing Co., of Gallion, for the alleged purchase of a road grader on a monthly rental basis.

The examination, made by Ralph A. Riegler of Canton, covered the period between April 1, 1938, and Aug. 31, 1939, when Miss McNicol, auditor's clerk for 25 years was dismissed by the then auditor, Andrew J. Biram. Biram was appointed auditor March 12, 1939, when Shelton J. Overdorf resigned to become Columbiana county auditor. Overdorf died three months later.

The report said: "We are convinced that Treasurer Hall had had little or no knowledge of what was going on in the department of the city auditor and city treasurer. He depended upon Shelton Overdorf and Miss McNicol to do the work."

PATROLMEN AT FAIR IN CADIZ

Group Will Demonstrate First Aid And Use Of Jujitsu

Demonstrations of first aid, display of equipment and the use of jujitsu in self-defense, will be presented by a three-man team from the Ohio state highway patrol at the Governor's Citizenship day rally and picnic Saturday, July 27, at the Harrison county fairgrounds at Cadiz.

The demonstrations will be educational in nature, and the patrol was asked to assign men to participate in the Citizenship day program so it would be possible to carry to the people of Columbiana, Carroll, Holmes, Tuscarawas, Harrison, Jefferson and Belmont counties, a spectacular first-hand story of some of the things it is necessary for a highway patrolman to know.

Lynn Black, superintendent, and Fritz Moritz, second in command of the patrol, have announced that the trio of patrolmen who will participate in the demonstration will come from the nearest patrol substation.

In the first aid demonstration one of the patrolmen will explain what is meant by first aid and how it is used by the patrol in accident investigation and accident prevention work. At the same time he will urge upon his listeners to use every possible precaution in traffic to avoid accidents.

There will be demonstrations of head bandages, hand bandages and foot bandages, chest and back bandages, shoulder and hip bandages and two types of arm slings.

The display of equipment carried for emergency work by each highway patrol car will be explained by the speaker, and shown to the audience, so all may know what the equipment is for.

In the demonstration of jujitsu, a system of wrestling said to have been originated by the Japanese, a volunteer "victim" is selected from the audience.

The phrase jujitsu means, literally translated, "muscle breaking". Actually, it is self-defense, and adepts have been known to subdue persons many times their weight and height, with the greatest of ease.

As two of the patrolmen show the audience what jujitsu holds mean, and how they are used, one of the patrolmen will explain it all.

Safest Haven In Air Raid Is Steel-Framed Skyscraper

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 19.—The safest place in an air raid is within a steel-framed skyscraper.

This prediction and evidence to back it comes from building authorities in New York City. It applies to a type of building common in American cities but mostly lacking in Europe, the "articulated" or steel cage structure which American engineers invented.

Two European examples are cited in News and Opinion, publication of the Building Trades employers' association of the City of New York. Both are American patterns.

In Madrid, the 20 story telephone exchange of the International Telegraph and Telephone Co., withstood constant heavy shelling and bombing for 18 months. It was hit many times by bombs and large-caliber shells, says V. G. Inen of the American Institute of Steel Construction, and not even seriously damaged.

Steel Buildings Stood Up
In Rotterdam, News and Opinion says, damage to ordinary five-story buildings was terrific, but singularly a 12-story new steel frame apartment building escaped.

Engineers explain this. The old type of building, which includes all Europe's historic structures, is known as the Monolith. This means that the walls support the entire weight of roof, floors and all the contents thereof.

It means, also, in terms of bombing, that a hit which damages a wall may collapse the whole structure.

The articulated American skyscraper is an endless steel skeleton, that is, every part of the frame is united by steel rivets, or by welding to every adjoining part. This results in what engineers call distribution of load.

For example, the masonry covering, that is the walls, are supported separately floor by floor, on the steel frame. Bomb demolition of a lower wall will not necessarily bring down upper sections. Each part of the building is capable in a measure of acting alone.

Steel Is Elastic
The steel has another advantage. It is not only a tough material but elastic. This steel frame is capable of stretching. The stretch is not likely to be perceptible to the eye, but it is nevertheless real, and enables the frame to readjust to new loading conditions.

In such a skyscraper the safest place at present would be the lower floors. For the tops are not safe. The roof, say the construction men, is the Achilles heel of skyscrapers. Roofs were built before air defense became necessary.

But they can be made safe by heavier construction.

"If we need 50,000 planes to protect ourselves," News and Opinion observes, "we certainly need heavier roofs."

There is another reason for heavier roofs. Army authorities, the building publication says, consider certain New York buildings to be ideal positions for anti-aircraft emplacements. They give an angle of view and fire impossible from many downtown streets and parks, with the additional advantage of 500 to 750 feet additional range.

Vulnerable important and famous American buildings, Mr. Inen says, are the White House, the national capital building and the old treasury building. They are erected without the articulated steel insides.

Modern Weapons Would Be Tested In An Attack On Rock Of Gibraltar

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK — The Rock of Gibraltar, symbol of strength for ages, may be made a new testing ground for modern weapons of offense.

Like the Maginot line of France, the Gibraltar fortress of Britain is composed of underground gun emplacements and galleries carved out of solid limestone.

As long as Spain was friendly or neutral, the British regarded the 2,396-foot-high rock as impregnable.

A Nationalist Spain, acting in concert with Germany and Italy, might imperil the great stronghold, by which Britain controls the western entrance of the Mediterranean and bases to a large degree her control of empire.

Announces Intentions
Generalissimo Franco served notice Wednesday that Spain wants Gibraltar back. But he did not say Spain would try to take it. Neither did he say he would give consent to Germany and Italy striking a blow at the British in this direction.

But Germany has a direct land connection now through occupied France by which to move troops, guns and tanks to a land assault upon Gibraltar, should Spain consent.

The Germans and Italians held a dress rehearsal of the present war by helping Franco in the Spanish civil war, and are familiar with the territory.

The new elements in a modern attempt to take Gibraltar would be planes, heavy artillery and tanks.

From Algeiras, Spain, but five miles across the bay to the west, the town of Gibraltar and its harbor, are open to artillery bombardment.

Heavy guns near Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, 15 miles across the Strait in Africa, likewise could reach the fort.

During the Spanish civil war it was rumored the Germans had installed heavy guns at both these places.

Anti aircraft batteries gave protection against planes, but it is not likely Britain could use many fighter craft to combat air assaults. The peninsula is but 2½ miles long, less than a mile wide—not a likely place for airfields.

Gibraltar is reported to be well provisioned and to have underground reservoirs holding millions of gallons of water carved out of the rock.

Latest Toothbrush Like Fountain Pen

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 19.—A tooth brush which works like a fountain pen, its dentifrice coming through a hollow handle into the bristles, has been perfected by two South Carolina dentists.

Its object, they say, is to appeal to some of the 91,000,000 (that figure is right!) Americans who never use a toothbrush. This figure is based on estimates from the American Dental association made on manufacturers' figures.

The dentists are Dr. John W. Douglas, Jr., of Greenville, and Dr. David Aiken of Winnsboro. The brush is intended to be a time-saver. It takes only a shake in the air to be loaded.

CONSTIPATED BUT DIDN'T KNOW IT

Not Free of Severe Headaches and Stuffed Head

Feeling for Years

Says Famous Bardex Tonic A Boon

"Bardex Tonic has certainly been a boon to me," said Mr. Isaiah Robinson of Warren. An important point in his story is the fact that he failed to realize he was constipated. Many people have daily movements yet may suffer from constipation. Waste matter may cling to the walls of the intestines, and especially in the colon, while the decay breeds poisons and the surprised victim often finds disease resulting. Shot-gun methods, such as shooting liquids through a pipe, may clean the center but leave the sidewalls with clinging wastes. The famous Bardex Tonic with alkalines, is intended for a thorough and complete cleansing and when this occurs, one often is overjoyed to find misleading symptoms of serious disease vanishing. We continue with Mr. Robinson:

"I never dreamed that I was so badly constipated. But facts are facts and this unsuspected condition brought on a lot of distressing ills for me. My stomach seemed always in an uproar and I haven't been free from severe headaches for years. Burning sensations would come and my breath was a caution. I'd get sick to my stomach a lot and my tongue often felt like a nutmeg grater. Of late I'd catch cold with the slightest change in weather and then the mucous condition would become almost intolerable. My head, mouth, nose and throat would be full of it and I'd spit for hours, especially in the morning.

"One bottle of Bardex Tonic gave me such a thorough constipation relief that I wondered how I managed to live with all that poison in me. Before I finished the six bottle course all my constipation results were splendidly relieved. My stomach feels cool and stimulated and I'm not having any trouble holding food. Without constipation I can avoid colds better and that's a blessing because it saves the vile mucous condition and terrible breath."

Note Mr. Robinson's reference to the laxative aid of Bardex Tonic in common cold prevention.

Bardex Tonic is good for young and old. It contains no habit-forming drugs or narcotics.

DEATH DRIVERS FACE NEW TEST

Defendant Motorists To Undergo Intelligence Quiz In Cleveland

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, July 19.—Motorists involved in serious traffic accidents here need a good set of reflexes and some ready answers to "escape" suspension of their driving rights.

Death drivers face a new set of questions in addition to those concerning accident details—a set to determine their intelligence quotient. Ultimately, they may run into knee-tapping to test reflexes and other examination by psychiatrists to detect mental quirks.

Impressed by psychiatric findings in traffic cases at Detroit, Acting Traffic Commissioner Martin L. Blecke has started quizzing accident drivers in the belief that emotional stress or irresponsibility may be factors in Cleveland's rising traffic toll.

Blecke reports: "Our new practice of bringing before us the drivers involved in fatal accidents—if the drivers survive—has been a revelation to us."

"We've been talking to all of them lately, whether the driver was responsible for the accident or not, and have thus far discovered no one whom you would call a responsible citizen has been at the wheel. Most of the people we've brought in—and, mind you, many of them hit pedestrians who were at fault—are what we call 'young punks'."

Sixty-seven traffic deaths to date this year, compared with 52 at this time a year ago, prompted the subjecting of accident drivers to informal intelligence tests.

Fifty-eight of this year's victims were pedestrians, Blecke reported, and all but two of these were intoxicated when struck in crossing street intersections.

County's Bill For Care Of Prisoners Showing Increase

LISBON, July 19.—County commissioners today scanned mounting costs of boarding Columbian county prisoners in the Mahoning county jail at Youngstown, a situation created when the county was forced to abandon its century-old prison here.

Since the old jail, condemned for years, was abandoned Feb. 1, upon the order of State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill, the boarding of prisoners has cost the county $3,223 for the five-month period ending June 31. This would make the average cost per year of boarding the prisoners $7,737, which is approximately $3,000 more than the cost of keeping prisoners in the county jail here last year, the figure having been slightly under $5,000.

The cost per month is as follows: February, $266.40; to the Mahoning county treasurer, and $26.50 to a local restaurant for meals of prisoners, held here pending transfer to Youngstown; March, $506.00; and $55.30; April, $778.80 and $39.40; May, $767.00; and $64.35; and June, $669.80 and $55.30.

Recreation, Saxons Win In Class A Second Half Openers

LATE RALLIES PRODUCE WINS IN LOOP TILTS

Recreation Tops Trades Class In Extra-Inning Contest

Rallies in the late innings brought the Salem Recreation and the Saxons victories in opening games of the Class A softball leagues second half race at Centennial park Thursday evening.

The Recreation scored three runs in the eighth to nose out the Trades Class, 5 to 4, in an extra inning game, while the Saxons rallied with two runs in the seventh to top the Salem News, 8 to 5.

Trades Score First

The Recreation and Trades Class staged a scoreless battle for four innings before the Tradesmen broke the ice with one run in the first half of the fifth. The Recreation countered with one run in the last of the fifth to tie the score, then forced into the lead with one run in the sixth.

Scoring once in the seventh, the Trades Class tied the count at 2-all, forcing the game into extra innings. The Tradesmen pushed over two runs in the first half of the eighth, but the Recreation came back with three runs in the last half of the inning to win.

The Trades Class outthrew their Class A rivals collecting 13 safe blows off Pitcher Ward, making his first start for the Recreation. Marshall Sutherland, pitching for the Trades, allowed nine hits.

A two-run rally in the seventh gave the Saxons their victory after the News had come from behind in the sixth to tie the score at 6-all.

The Saxons led 6-3 going into the sixth inning when the News broke out with a three-run spurt to deadlock the count. The score remained tied only for a short time, however, as the Saxons came back with two runs in the seventh to gain the decision.

The News collected 10 hits to the Saxons' nine.

Tied For Lead
The Young People's Catholic club moved into a three-way tie for first place in the Church league's second round race by edging the Trinity Lutherans, 8 to 7, in one of the two Church league games. A six-run outburst in the seventh inning gave the Y. P. C. C. its victory.

The Catholic Club is now tied with the Methodists and Baptists in first place in the Church league's second round campaign. Each of the three leaders has won five games and lost one.

The Emmanuel Lutherans posted their first win of the second round in the other Church league game, defeating the Christians, 8 to 5.

Breezy Briets Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, July 19.—Salles down fistic alleys. Don't be surprised if the Manassa Mauler is really through this time. That back injury he suffered in Detroit is no joke. Mrs. Kate Jenkins said, "Lew's mistake was that he grew a little careless when he had Armstrong where he wanted him." (We must miss that!) . . . Hype Hype, the old smartie, is still taking bows for publicly picking Maxie Baer to stop Galento in eight and Armstrong to jar Jenkins in six. Johnny Ray, Billy Ganss, Pittsburgher doesn't fight at least 180 for the Rustor fight, he (Ray) will eat all the coal in Pennsylvania, chunk by chunk.

Today's Guest Star
Wibbur Wood, New York "Sun"—"Henry Armstrong isn't half the fighter he used to be and Lew Jenkins isn't half the fighter he was supposed to be."

Autumn's-in-the-air-note: In less than four weeks the New York "Jints" football club will head for training camp. . . If the Dodgers win the pennant, they may play their World Series "home games" in Yankee stadium, where about twice as many customers can buy tickets. . . Baseballers are still chuckling over the wire Lefty Gomez sent to George Selkirk the day Twink was benched here during the White Sox series. . . It read, "Sorry you're not in the lineup." And it was signed "Thornton Lee."

Ask the Cleveland Indians
Jimmy Dykes ain't kiddin'! When he starts to ribbin' His poison dart's sure hit Enemies of Ol' Os Vitt!

Questions (But no answers) dept.: Are the Dodgers dickering for a straitliner to bring them back to town Sunday? . . . What American league club is interested in Pitcher Frank Mellon of Columbus? . . . And why aren't big league scouts camping on the doorstep of John Leonardo, pitcher for Du Pont in the Virginia intercity league? All he's done is hurl five shutouts this season, the last four in succession.

Safe bet: That during his basketball coaching career out at the Coffeyville, Kan., high school, Wendell Willkie employed a "fire department" offense.

Placencia Faces White Sox Again
Seeking revenge for an early season defeat, Lake Placencia's semi-pro baseball team will face the Cleveland White Sox for the second time at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the lake diamond.

The White Sox, claimants to the Negro championship of northeastern Ohio, defeated Placencia, 2-1, in the first game between the two teams.

The Cleveland colored team has won 14 of its 16 games to date, defeating many of northern Ohio's leading clubs.

Willis Schopier and Hunt, who hooked up in a tight pitching duel in the first meeting of the teams, are slated to be on the mound again Sunday.

YANKEES HAND INDIANS FIFTH STRAIGHT LOSS

Tribe Drops Out Of Lead As Detroit Takes Top Spot

By JUDSON BAILEY

The American league still is boiling over, like a pot of hot porridge, and there doesn't seem to be anything anyone can do about it.

The Cleveland Indians stumbled into their fifth consecutive defeat yesterday, 9-6, at the hands of the over dangerous New York Yankees. Four losses left them in first place, but five took 'em out.

Detroit Takes Over
Both the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers had a chance to scoot into the lead, but when they finished battling each other at the end of 11 wild innings, it was Detroit that was on top, 10-8.

This was a game that had everything, including a triple play. The Yankees sewed up their victory in the first two innings. Joe DeMaggio extended his hitting streak to 13 consecutive games by pulling his 17th home run in the seventh inning.

Although they are in fourth place, the world champions are only four games behind the leaders.

The amazing Washington Senators, in last place only last Sunday, chalked up their fifth triumph in a row with a 5-4 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

Long Losing Streak
The streak to end all streaks, however, was the one the St. Louis Browns extended to 14 games, all losses, yesterday. This isn't a record—yet—but it is one more defeat than the Browns had suffered in succession before. The 10-3 victory that the Philadelphia Athletics took from them was a combination of five-hit hurling by Johnny Babich and a 17-hit assault of five St. Louis slingers.

The National league program was abbreviated to two games and the Brooklyn Dodgers made the most of the idleness of the Cincinnati Reds by whipping the Chicago Cubs 7-4 to narrow the gap between first and second place to three games.

Carl Hubbell got the chance he wanted to work in a night game and handcuffed the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1 on six hits.

HOME RUN WINS FOR CLEANERS
Howard's Circuit Blow Scores Two Runs In Seventh Inning

A home run by J. Howard in the seventh inning with one man on earned the Salem Window Cleaners a 4-to-2 victory over Owens Service softball team yesterday.

The Service Station players outfit the Cleaners, 9 to 4, but failed to bunch their base knocks in the right places.

SALEM RIDERS PLAY RANGERS
Face Youngstown Team In Game Sunday On Canfield Turf

Taking to the road again after a home game last Sunday, the Salem Polo club will face the hard-riding Youngstown Rangers in a Penn-Ohio league game at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Canfield fairgrounds.

The Salem club was scheduled to meet the Rangers twice before this season, but both games were rained out.

The two teams are scheduled to meet again next Wednesday at the Salem club's home field in a benefit game for the First Presbyterian church.

Boasting four wins in six games, the Salem riders will be after their fifth victory of the season and their second win in a row. They are fresh from a 13-9 triumph over Zellenople, Pa.

The Youngstown team, a new entry in the Penn-Ohio league this year, is composed of former stars of the Akron Bar K. Cowboys, including Dick Knepper, Bill Strickland, Chester Arthur and Chick Barr.

"TITAN TOWER" by JAMES G. CHESNUTT

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Linda didn't know what time it was when she threw the covers back from the bed, covered her eyes with her hands — palms outward—as though to fend off a terrible vision, and then swiftly rose, slipped into mules and a robe, and went to Mickey's crib.

She stood there a long time, looking down on him without waking him, watching him sleep the deep, restful sleep of the very young.

"Mickey, dear," she said softly, "you'll understand some day."

And then she walked from the room, straight out through the front room and into the hall, leaving her door ajar behind her.

Jo Monroe was yawning and grumbling in alternate breaths when she opened the door of her apartment.

But Janice, who stood beside her, was more hospitable.

"Come right in, honey," Janice said, "what's the matter? Is something wrong?"

"Nothing's wrong, Jan," Linda said, throwing her arms about Janice. "Everything's right—now."

"Jo," Linda said, emphatically, turning to the tall girl, who stood leaning with elbow on wall scratching her tousled head, "Jo! I'm going to do it!"

"Do you have to do it right now?" Jo yawned. "Why at 2 o'clock in the morning?"

"Do what, honey?" Janice asked as she climbed back into bed and Jo sat on the edge.

"I'm going to take Jo's advice," Linda said. "My mind's made up now—definitely. I've just decided. I'm a single woman and I'm going to act like one—I'm going to have fun like one!"

If Jo was not as tremendously moved by the announcement as Linda had expected, Janice was more so.

"O. K., Lin," Jo said. "I'm really glad that you've finally seen the light."

"I'm NOT!" It was Janice.

"I think it's terrible," Janice said. "Don't you do it, honey! Don't you be so foolish as to let him think you're single. If I loved a man, I'd tell him everything; no half measures. I'd..."

"But Jan dear," Jo interrupted. "You're so DIFFERENT. Lucky you get that you—lucky you, if you get a man."

Linda went back to her own room and slept very soundly the few remaining hours until her alarm clock jangled her into consciousness again.

Her lack of sleep showed in the tired lines about her bloodshot eyes the next morning. The look was still there at noon when she again met Mr. Avon in the little sandwich shop. After they had talked awhile on generalities, he said:

"Linda, the old shoulder's still here. Sure you don't want to use it? You look as though you'd better confide in someone, before you become another non-paying patient for your boss..."

"You're sweet," Linda smiled gratefully, and Mr. Avon wondered as she said it why this same lovely girl could confide in an anonymous old man but would become all stiff and awed and frightened if she knew he was really J. R. Blaine, "Mr. Titan Tower," himself.

"But, really," Linda continued, "I don't need a shoulder to cry on—not now, anyway. My problem's all solved. Do you mind if I tell you all about it?"

Mr. Avon didn't mind.

Linda told him everything. She told him about Mike and about Mickey; about Jo's formula for Linda's happiness, about the difficult dilemma it placed her in, about Janice's warning against her final decision. Linda told Mr. Avon the whole story—but she told it like a story, third person, without names.

When she had finished, Mr. Avon spoke without hesitation.

"If that course will bring her happiness, Linda, she should take it by all means. She has happiness coming to her; all she can get out of this tough old world. If she's sure she loves this young man, nothing should stand in the way..."

"But remember, child," he went on, "that line about 'it's fun to be fooled' wasn't written about men in love. Way back—a hundred years or so ago, when I was a kid in school—I learned a poem that's stuck with me pretty well all through life. You know it?"

"Oh, what a tangled web we weave

When first we practice to deceive..."

"Yes," said Linda. "I know it."

She wished she didn't know it, later that afternoon in the office, when the couple kept running through her mind incessantly set to the tune of a popular song. No matter how strongly she willed against it, the words kept cropping up in her mind.

The words were there when Bill Blaine telephoned. He asked if he might see her that night and Linda pleaded a prior engagement.

"Tomorrow then, Linda," Bill had urged. "I have to stop and ask myself if I'm a doctor or a disease, the way you avoid me."

"I won't any more, Bill," Linda answered. "Tomorrow then."

Linda was in a mood several shades darker when she opened the door of her apartment, later, to find her front room in turmoil, with two tangled forms—a big one and a very small one—wrestling on the floor, impeded by a huge mass of tawny fur, which leaped in and out of the tangle.

From the middle of the rug Steve Hubbard's face, what she could see of it, for Mickey's small arm flung across the nose and mouth, peered up at her.

As soon as he had dislodged the young strangle-hold, Steve grinned up at Linda and said:

"Howdy, stranger. Drag up a ringside seat for the championship match. Right now Mighty Mickey has one fall on Strong-Arm Steve. Also, meet Major, the referee. He's the panting one."

"Hello, mother," Mickey beamed.

His face was flushed, happy. "We're fighting."

"So I see," Linda said, and she didn't smile.

"Must you be so rough?" she said. Major bounded up to her and tried to lick her hand. "And, PLEASE take that big dog out of here."

When Steve was on his feet, trying futilely to smooth his ruffled hair, his grin was something to behold. When he and the dog had gone, Mickey stood there, in the middle of the rug utterly devastated, heartbroken.

"Mother," he said, "why did you make Steve go 'way? I like him, and..."

His lower lip trembled, dangerously close to tears.

"...and dogs AREN'T bad!" Linda gathered him to her.

"No, dear," she said. "Mothers sometimes are..."

That night, when Linda, Janice and Jo got together to map out the start of the courtship campaign aimed at Dr. Bill Blaine, Linda's feeling had changed. In the place of genuine self-censure, which had been so difficult to subdue before she decided upon this course, there was that tingling feeling of intrigue's excitement.

"Humm," said Jo standing back and surveying Linda through narrowed, critical eyes, hands on hips. "Lessee, not much needed in the way of makeup or costuming for the part. But as for props—ah, yes..."

Linda's gaze, sparkling interest in her eyes, followed the line of Jo's left hand. There was the beautiful combination engagement and wedding ring which Mike Morton had given her—eye-holding as an ornament but unobtrusive as a marriage symbol. At least, Bill Blaine certainly hadn't recognized it as such.

"The ring doesn't fit the perfect picture of the eligible girl," Jo continued, "so we'll shed it. Many's the time I've shed my gems for 'uncle'—but I've never done it for love."

A flicker of a shadow crossed Linda's brow, but didn't linger.

"Okeh," Linda said. "They're off!"

But Janice gasped in dismay.

"Linda!" she remonstrated. "That's terrible! I'd—I'd NEVER take mine off!"

"Wait till you get one ON, darling," Jo laughed. "Now, let's see about the stage setting. He can't come to get you at your apartment. Guess you'll have to move in here, for the pretense. We'll be three little girls from school..." She stopped to execute an impromptu dance.

"We're Lin and Jan and Joe," she improvised.

"Three little girls in a row," "So, yo-ho-ho and a bucket of..."

She stopped midway in a pirouette and dashed for the kitchen, returning a moment later with a bottle—tall, dark and with gilt foil cap.

"Linda," she panted. "I've been saving it for my own wedding, but I'm afraid it won't keep that long. Let's drink to happiness for little Linda!"

When they had finished, Janice's glass was hardly touched.

Before Linda left them, they had decided that Mrs. Blauer must be taken into their scheme, although Janice volunteered to switch places with Linda and to keep Mickey on the nights that Linda had dates.

As she was leaving for work the next morning, after Mrs. Blauer had arrived to keep Mickey for the day, Linda said:

"Bertha, a young man is calling for me tonight. I'm going to have to meet him in Jo and Janice's apartment, because—well, because I don't want him to know I'm married, just yet. Do you mind staying with Mickey?"

"Mind?" Mrs. Blauer echoed. "Do I mind keeping the darlin'?"

I'd like to keep him the rest of my life! But Linda..." she hesitated, and then resolved to speak frankly. "Linda, dear," she said. "Do you think it's exactly right to keep a young man in the dark that way. I'm just a nosey old woman, but if he's not the kind of a man who would love our Mickey, he's good riddance, say I. You know, dear, the best laid plans of mice and men—well, you know what happens to them..."

"Thanks, Bertha," Linda said. "I've thought it all out, and my mind's made up. I know you'll like him, too—when you know him."
